Emergency Services

First Environmental Nationwide provides emergency response services primarily to the Southeast (Georgia, Florida, Alabama, Tennessee and South Carolina). A call to one of our highly trained emergency coordinators will initiate a rapid and well organized response to the emergency situation. Utilizing seasoned professionals, First Environmental Nationwide coordinates the response with local, state or other government agencies. Our response personnel are trained and certified in a variety of hazardous material situations. As a full service remediation contractor, we are also able to provide transportation, disposal and closure after the emergency has been controlled. First Environmental Nationwide maintains a specialized inventory of equipment and materials to respond to just about any hazardous material response. First Environmental Nationwide personnel have substantial experience in the following hazardous material response situations:

- Transportation-related Spills
- Petroleum Releases at Gas Stations and Bulk Tank Farms
- Chemical Spills from Drums and Totes
- Railroad Tanker Cars and Locomotive Derailments
- Fire Damage Remediation
- Biohazard Incidents
- Groundwater Treatment and Free Product Recovery
- Petroleum Spills on Surface Water
- Materials Neutralization
- Tanker Truck Roll - Overs
- Chemical Transfers
